

Tatyana V. Avilova

Columbia University, Department of Economics
tva2114@columbia.edu

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Student in Economics, Columbia University, 2016-present

B.A. in Economics, magna cum laude, Harvard University, 2009-2013

Honors Thesis: "Improvement in Health Care Access and Its Impact on Health Care Use by Pregnant Women in Japan"

Secondary Field: East Asian Studies

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Industrial Organization, Health Care, Education, Labor

WORKING PAPERS & WORK IN PROGRESS

"What Can UWE Do for Economics?" with Claudia Goldin. 2018. Available as NBER Working Paper 24189

"Impact of New Residency Program Requirements on Physician Specialization in Japan"

"Modeling Demand for Pharmaceuticals in Response to Physician Advertising in Japan"

FELLOWSHIPS, GRANTS & HONORS

Wueller Teaching Award for best teaching assistant in Principles of Economics, 2017-2018

Fulbright Research Fellowship, University of Tsukuba, September 2013-July 2014

Phi Beta Kappa, Spring 2013

Second Place (Heritage Learners, Level 3) in the ACTR National Post-Secondary Russian Essay Contest, Spring 2013

Tazuko Ajiro Monane Prize Recipient (Harvard University, for outstanding achievement in the study of the Japanese language), 2012-2013

Harvard College Scholar, 2009-2010

INVITED CONFERENCES & PRESENTATIONS

Organizer and presenter, 3rd Annual Undergraduate Women in Economics Conference, University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, 2018

Panelist, "Gender Issues in Economics" paper session, Allied Social Sciences Association Annual Meeting, Philadelphia, PA, 2018

Organizer, 2nd Annual Undergraduate Women in Economics Conference, Colorado State University, 2017

Organizer, 1st Annual Undergraduate Women in Economics Conference, University of Virginia, 2016

Presenter, summer internship presentation “Labor supply preferences of white-collar workers in Japan,” Research Institute of Economy, Trade and Industry, Tokyo, Japan, July 2012

APPOINTMENTS

Project Manager, Undergraduate Women in Economics Challenge, for Claudia Goldin, National Bureau of Economic Research, August 2014-present

RA for Kazuo Yamaguchi, Research Institute of Economy, Trade, and Industry (RIETI), Japan, Summer 2012

RA for Claudia Goldin, Harvard University, Summer 2011

RA for Nathan Nunn, Harvard University, Summer 2011

TEACHING

HPMN P8508: Analysis of Large Scale Data (Masters), Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health, Fall 2018 (TA for Prof. Adam Sacarny)

ECON GU4325: Economic Development of Japan (Undergraduate), Columbia University, Fall 2018 (TA for Prof. David Weinstein)

ECON UN1105: Principles of Economics (Undergraduate), Columbia University, Spring 2018 (TA for Prof. Sunil Gulati)

ECON GU4325: Economic Development of Japan (Undergraduate), Columbia University, Fall 2017 (TA for Prof. David Weinstein)

Non-Resident Tutor in Economics, Harvard University, Spring 2016

MISCELLANEOUS

Computing and IT skills: LaTeX/Beamer, MATLAB, R, SPSS, Stata

Languages: Russian (native), English (native), Japanese (JLPT N2), French (proficient), Spanish (conversational)