I will be teaching an undergraduate lecture course on the history of 19th century Europe and Asia

October-November 2012, Research Assistant to Professor Pamela Smith, Columbia University, New York

I conducted archival research in Paris and Toulouse for Prof. Pamela Smith's current research on life casting in the 16th century.

Fall 2011- Present, Rapporteur, History and Philosophy of Science University Seminar, University Seminars, Columbia University, New York

Help to organize monthly meetings of the New York History of Science Group.

Fall 2011-Spring 2012, Teaching Assistant, Columbia University, New York

Teaching assistant for Professor Carl Wennerlind's "Introduction to Early Modern History" and Professor Matthew Jones' "The Scientific Revolution 1500-1750."

Spring 2010, Volunteer, Oxford University Museum of Natural History, Oxford, United Kingdom

Catalogued fossil specimens and updated the museum's online database.

August 2009 to August 2010, Research Assistant to Professor Shannon McSheffrey, Concordia University Montreal, Quebec

Prof. McSheffrey's research centers on the legal topography of sixteenth-century London. My role in this project consisted of transcribing the English and Latin sections of a seventeenth-century cartulary for the church of St-Martin Le Grand.

September 2008 to August 2009, Research Assistant to Professor Eric Reiter, Concordia University, Montreal, Quebec

Prof. Reiter's research centers on the development of personality rights and the law of persons in the Quebec Civil Code. My role in this project consisted of reading Quebec legal treatises of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries in French and English and identifying relevant sections for Dr. Reiter's research purposes.

June 2007- July 2008, Research Technician, Archives Nationales du Québec, Montreal, Quebec

Aided patrons with historical research, constructed genealogical trees, created databases for online research, and catalogued judicial files.

October 2007- August 2008, Researcher, St. James United Church, Montreal, Quebec

Independently conducted two original primary research projects on the history of St. James United Church in Montreal. Catalogued a cache of neglected valuable documents that traced the church's history for the benefit of the Church and future historians. Created a public display of Protestant Missionary artifacts for the congregation and visitors. Gave guided tours of the church to visitors.
