ECONOMICS

December 2019

Dear Employers,

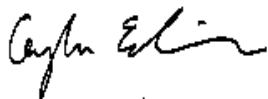

I take great pride in presenting to you our 2020 cohort. I am sure that you will find many top-quality candidates among them.

Columbia University established the Economics master's program in 2015. For this program, we receive hundreds of applications from highly qualified candidates, are only able to admit a small fraction of the applicants. As a result, we have the privilege to work with outstanding students who excel in several different dimensions.

We provide state-of-the-art education for our students, which can make a meaningful and sustainable difference in both their academic or professional lives.

We would appreciate hearing from you about your personnel requirements. Please feel free to contact me if you need detailed or specific information about our program or any of our students.

Sincerely,

Ceyhun Elgin

Research Assistantships:

- Two Hundred Years of Financial Integration: Prof. Graciela Kaminsky (GWU), Sept. – Dec. 2017
 - Examined public bond records between 1800-1930 issued in at Credit Lyonnais, Börse Berlin, NYSE and LSE. Calculated interest rate term structures of different bonds through compiling data on exchange rates, issue price, interest rates, sinking fund rate, and maturity.

Personal Research:

- 'Currency, Crisis and Credit: Examining the Effects of U.S. Monetary Policy on Emerging Market Financial Crises, 1980-2010' submitted August 2019 (Graduate Dissertation in Economic History)
 - This paper investigates the impact of changes in U.S. monetary policy on foreign asset price bubbles. We regress surprise movements in the federal funds rate on measures of equity and credit bubbles through event-study and Bayesian vector autoregression (BVAR) models across 20 emerging market countries for the period of 1980-2010. We find a heterogeneous panel of responses which cast doubt on whether countries uniformly respond to the global financial cycle as proposed by Rey (2013). Instead we propose that country characteristics, such as the exchange rate regime, financial development and the presence of neighboring bubbles, help explain these irregularities.
 - 'Assessing the Connection between Liberalization and Diversification' published in The Visible Hand (Cornell University), Spring 2018 (Undergraduate Thesis in Economics)
