

Comparative Advantage

Stanford Undergraduate Economics Journal

About the Journal

First published in 2013, Comparative Advantage is Stanford University's only undergraduate economics journal. Our journal and blog are run by an editorial staff of Stanford undergraduates. We invite all undergraduates to contribute their economics-related writing to our journal and blog.

Who may submit?

- Authors must have been enrolled in a two- or four-year college or university as undergraduates at the time they completed their work.
- Stanford, non-Stanford, and international undergraduates are welcome to submit work.

What kind of work may be submitted?

- We accept research papers, theses, and course term papers. We also encourage the submission of shorter-length pieces, such as essays and opinion pieces.
- We welcome work in any field of economics and in related disciplines, such as political science, public policy, international relations, management science, applied mathematics, business, and finance. We also enthusiastically support interdisciplinary work.
- Work from the current year or a previous undergraduate year is eligible.

How is work submitted?

- Submissions must be emailed to stanfordeconjournal@gmail.com.
- Work may be submitted as either a LaTeX or Word document. Submissions must also include a PDF version.
- Figures and tables should be included as separate JPEG or PNG files.
- Papers should be no more than 25 pages, with 12-point Times New Roman font and 1.5 spacing. References should follow APA style.
- Authors may submit work that does not meet some requirements, but if their work is accepted for publication, they must meet expectations.

What happens after selection?

- We review all submissions and look for originality, compelling evidence, and strong analysis.
- Authors will be notified by email once decisions have been made.
- Past journal issues can be found on our website: <https://stanfordeconjournal.com/archive>.

Where are the complete submission requirements?

Visit our website for complete requirements: <https://stanfordeconjournal.com/submit>.

When are submissions due?

Submissions for our Spring 2021 issue must be received by April 21, 2021.
